Route tourism

 The clustering of activities and attractions in less developed areas, stimulates cooperation and partnerships between communities in local and neighboring regions and serves as a vehicle for the stimulation of economic development through tourism.

Factors that underpin the development of route tourism:

- Disperse income from tourism
- Bring lesser known attractions into limelight
- Increase appeal of destination
- Increase length of stay
- Increase spending
- Attract new tourists

Factors for a successful route

- Cooperation networks
- Product development
- Community participation
- Information
- Promotion
